Note from the Dean

"Welcome to ICLS, the law school for aspiring legal professionals based in the heart of Lahore!" It is my pleasure to welcome you all to International College for Legal Studies. ICLS is an epicentre for all individuals who wish to be a part of the legal fraternity. It offers a diverse number of international qualifications to choose from ranging from the University of London LLB Programme to the Diplomas in Law by Awards for Training in Higher Education.

I have worked directly with the University of London for almost two decades. ICLS is a dream project with the aim of providing a complete law school experience and a focus on diversity and inclusivity. I am proud to have the best legal minds of the country in the shape of our teachers, counselors and mentors. Our students have also been instrumental in fulfilling the vision with which this college was started.

"Equality, justice, and fair play to everybody" were the ideals on which Quaid-e- Azam M.A. Jinnah expected Pakistani democracy to be built. Similarly, keeping in spirit with his ideals, we teach students from all backgrounds, approaches, ambitions, interests, and perspectives. All our students become a part of this community of lawyers that study, teach, write, debate, explore, question, innovate, litigate, arbitrate, mediate, negotiate, advocate peace and pursue the highest ideals of rule of law and justice.

With all the training imparted at ICLS, our students become dynamic members of the local as well as the international legal fraternity. All students are a catalyst for change, contributing within the ambit of law and society. Our students have represented ICLS at both domestic and international forums. This exposure helps students identify a suitable niche for themselves in the area of law they are most proficient in.

Your development will be unfettered at ICLS and we will help you succeed and fulfil your true potential. Work hard and be kind to one another. These are trying times and we need to bring out the best of humanity. Know that we dare to be different. You should be the change you wish to see.

Best Regards,

Sarah Tarar

LLM/PG Dip/PG Cert

The University of London Master of Laws (LLM), Postgraduate Diploma (PG Dip) in Law and Postgraduate Certificate (PG Cert) in Law are world-class, flexible postgraduate laws programmes. The academic direction at postgraduate level is provided by Queen Mary and University College London. There are 2 sessions available in May and in October.

Students accepted to the Postgraduate Laws programmes start at three points of entry, namely at PG Cert, PG Dip or LLM. Your point of entry is determined by your entry qualifications but does not set your exit award. It is your choice to leave the programme with a PG Cert, PG Dip or/and LLM - or all three! You can collect a three qualifications, provided you complete within a maximum of five years.

 LLM: You are eligible for the LLM award upon completion of 16 modules from 4 courses (5 towards PG Cert, 5 towards PG Dip and an additional 6).

 PG Diploma Laws: You are eligible for this award upon completion of 10 modules from up to 4 courses (5 towards PG Cert and an additional 5).

 PG Certificate Laws: All students are eligible for this award upon completion of 5 modules. You may get this in addition to your LLM degree or you may have to do this first if you do not have a traditional academic background. You apply for this, progress to PG Dip and eventually LLM.

You may choose a specialisation or keep it general. If you choose to specialise, you need to study a minimum number of courses or modules within your specialist pathway. The number depends on the qualification you are working towards.

In addition to satisfying the English Language requirement, you normally need one of the following:

- * A Bachelor of Laws (LLB) with second-class honours from the University of London.
- * A second-class bachelor's degree (or equivalent), where at least half the units are in law-related subjects.
- * A pass in the Bar Vocational Course (BVC) of England and Wales, or the Qualifying Exam of the Solicitors' Regulation Authority of England plus a second-class bachelor's degree.
- * The Common Professional Examination or a Graduate Diploma in Law, plus a second-class bachelor's degree.
- * Qualification as a solicitor or barrister in England or Wales, or the equivalent elsewhere.
- * A second-class bachelor's degree (or equivalent) from the University of London or an acceptable institution (PG Dip route).
- * A Master's degree (PG Dip route).
- * A Bachelor's degree from the University of London or an acceptable institution (PG Cert route). At least five years' relevant work experience, such as accounting, banking, finance, or insurance (PG Cert route).

Individual Courses:

If you are looking to enhance your knowledge of an individual area of law, then you may choose to study any of the individual courses from the PG Laws Programme by the University of London at ICLS.

Bar Transfer Test

The Bar Transfer Test (BTT) enables qualified lawyers (those who hold a license to practice law) in Pakistan to get called to the Bar of England and Wales, without having to undertake a degree or training in the UK. International College for Legal Studies provides full support to appear for the BTT Exams. In addition, you will need to attend a certain number of qualifying sessions with an Inn of Court.

Modules

- * Advocacy
- * Civil Litigation
- * Criminal Litigation
- * Professional Ethics
- * Opinion Writing
- * Legal Research
- * Drafting
- * Conference Skills

Eligibility Criteria

- * License to practice in the courts of Pakistan (at least lower courts)
- * Relevant work experience
- * Proficiency in English Language

Procedure

Apply to ICLS and study here in Pakistan with experienced faculty members. Sit for the examinations in March/April or July/August. Results released within three months of the examinations. Call to the Bar after passing assessments and completing qualifying sessions.

Legal Clinics Programme

The only University of London (UoL) Recognised Teaching Centre with an established Legal Clinics Programme; ICLS is truly a leader in the field of legal education in Pakistan. With a strong team of practitioners, we provide our students with a practice-oriented learning experience.

Equipped with vast experience in the legal education sector, Dean ICLS Sarah Tarar recognised one of the vital gaps in the legal education being imparted in other UoL teaching institutions, chief of which was that UoL graduates were graduating law schools with little knowledge about domestic legal practice. The core mission for ICLS is to ensure a nexus of academics and practical knowledge for students in the shape of a very strong legal clinics programme.

Meeting at the ISL Secreteriat

Barr. HRM giving a talk on Criminal Law

The Legal Clinics Programme at ICLS provides students with a taste of practical experience while still at law school. The students are exposed to practice areas such as civil litigation, criminal trials, arbitration proceedings, corporate negotiations, contract drafting and family law matters and dealing with clients, thereby preparing them for the legal field without any additional cost or time. Furthermore, the students are given unparalleled access to actual ongoing cases by our clinical teaching team for them to engage with the intricacies of drafting, filing, negotiations and trial preparation.

The work done at ICLS under the Legal Clinics Programme is diverse and covers a wide range of aspects. A series of workshops and seminars are held throughout the year by our faculty and Panel of Experts.

International Centre For Dispute Resolution Lahore

International Centre for Dispute Resolution Lahore (ICDRL) is a centre which works in collaboration with ICLS and offers a range of services through accredited negotiators, mediators and arbitrators as part of its panel to resolve disputes through ADR mechanisms. It is home to ADR ODR International UK and is the only platform in Pakistan which provides accredited ADR training by Singapore International Mediation Institute (SIMI), International Mediation Institute (IMI) and Civil Mediation Council (CMC).

Realising that lack of awareness is the barrier for development of ADR in Pakistan, ICDRL focuses on the youth and provides introductory ADR workshops and training sessions for International ADR competitions.

Its aim is also to provide much needed research to the government on legislation related to ADR. It is working with the SDGs Secretariat on SDG 16 "Peace, Justice, and Strong Institutions" with the focus on the role of ADR.

It also provides pro bono mediation services with or without collaborations with NGOs. The Centre conducts an annual internship programme for the youth aimed at involving motivated individuals as interns who are passionate about ADR and are eager to help themselves and work on the goal of promoting peace.

Centre for Law and Human Rights

It is essential for students to join a community of advocates working to address global human rights imbalances that inadvertently result in economic and political inequality, exploitation, and threats to physical security, poverty, and environmental injustice. ICLS trains students to be leaders in human rights advocacy.

Students in Pakistan need to experience working in tandem with professionals to protect those that are directly affected by human rights abuse.

ICLS has a Centre for Law and Human Rights that is in partnership with Amnesty International South Asia and works towards a better future for human rights in Pakistan. CLHR holds workshops, seminars and webinars by inviting human rights experts to engage with students on various topics ranging from Children's and Women's rights to Human Rights and International Humanitarian law. The idea of the Centre is to instill knowledge on human rights issues that Pakistan faces on a daily basis so that the students have a well-rounded experience of learning law at ICLS.

CLHR has hosted various events, highlighting the importance of advocating human rights, both at national as well as international level. In collaboration with Amnesty International South Asia a workshop Amnesty's "Write for Rights" campaign.

Centre for Global Research

The objective of the Centre for Global Research is to provide much needed legal support to institutions, both domestic and international, working towards strengthening law and research methods. The Centre focuses on incorporating international standards and best practices within existing structures of Pakistan. The goal is to impartially analyse and evaluate jurisprudence in ADR, Humanitarian Law, Human Rights Law, Commercial and Corporate law currently in existence with a view towards strengthening the laws and their implementation framework.

It is working with the SDGs Secretariat of the National Assembly of Pakistan on SDG 16 "Peace, Justice, and Strong Institutions". As a result, various seminars/workshops were held at ICLS, where the students participated and gave meaningful inputs to discuss future plans regarding Sustainable Development Goal 16, 'Peace, Justice and Strong Institutions' laid out by the United Nations General Assembly.

Additionally, the Centre also focuses on regularly publishing quality literature on current topics relating to law and justice. One of the more important objectives of the Centre is also to collaborate with relevant stakeholders in developing new legislative initiatives through drafting and editorial support.

It is this Centre's desire to spread awareness through legal reforms, academic writing, and hosting events etc. that may increasingly support and sustain a better future for Pakistan. The Centre also aspires to work towards effective in-house capacity building activities for our students and works in tandem with all the centres and the legal clinic to provide support and structure to all research related activities and publications.

Expertos Legales

Our Law Firm

Expertos Legales, Advocates and Legal Consultants is a corporate, commercial and litigation law firm situated inside ICLS campus. It is a fully functioning law firm, working in over 100 cities in Pakistan. Having its head office at ICLS it provides our students with an outstanding opportunity for professional growth. The founding partner Mr Muhammad Farooq Rashid believes in imparting wisdom to aspiring lawyers from the start. Thus, students at ICLS are introduced to the different substantive laws which the law firm specialises in.

Students at ICLS can pick and choose their field of interest at Expertos Legales. ICLS strongly believes that students should explore their areas of interests while they complete their respective degrees. Experts Legales provides them with an excellent opportunity to experience practical law and learn from a reputable law firm on campus. For more details and opportunities, refer to www.expertoslegales.org.

Job Placements

In order to facilitate their employability, students may consult the Jobs Placement Office at ICLS. The Job Placements Office offers the following services to students:

- * Access to professional internships and job opportunities.
- * Networking opportunities with excellent law firms, international organisations and non-governmental organizations throughout Pakistan.
- * Option of applying for a secure position at our in-house law firm, Expertos Legales.
- * One-to-one advice on how to decide a career path, as well as information and advice on the application process, including CVs, cover letters and application forms.
- * Provide information resources on further study, jobs, internships and volunteering.
- * Practice interviews to help students prepare their upcoming recruitment process.
- * Assistance with CVs and cover letters.

During the academic year, the Job Placements Office organises various ILS specific events for students. Activities include educational trips to the Lower courts, High Court and tour of the Parliament. ICLS has a moot court facility where annual moots and legal seminars/webinars are conducted. In addition, ICLS also provides public speaking and legal writing workshops. These workshops further help students build their resumes and create effective cover letters.

The Job Placements Office team works with our students throughout the duration of their degree to aid them build strong profiles. Moreover, expert advice from active professionals is a routine feature and we are honoured to have an unmatched panel of experts helping us achieve our goal.

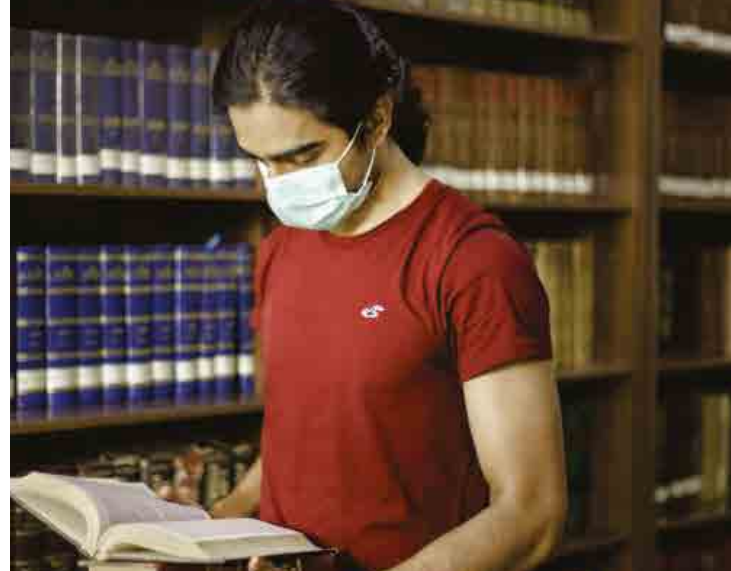

Postgraduate Applications

ICLS places immense importance on career counseling for its valued students. We provide assistance in planning your next step by providing focused and dedicated career counseling. We have partnered with Q&A Consultants with regard to Postgraduate applications.

Q&A Consultants are experts in the field of counselling and training in career development. ICLS encourages students to dedicate time to one-on-one sessions with the counsellors available to maximize their chances of identifying and securing opportunities. Q&A Consultants will not only assist students with their admissions, but they go a step ahead and help with scholarships, visa applications and accommodation.

Q&A Consultants provide end to end services to students applying abroad to one of their partner universities and these services are free of cost to ICLS students. Group as well as one on one sessions are arranged with Q&A to explain the application process, the visa process and to take any questions that students may have in this regard.

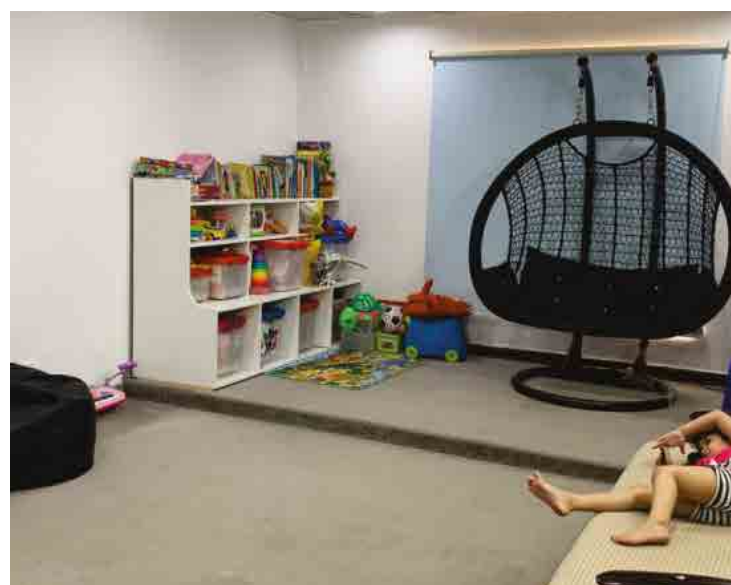

Life at ICLS

While academics are a pivotal part of a student's life, extracurricular activities are equally important. ICLS provides several platforms for students under the ambit of extra and co-curricular societies to gain exposure.

ICLS Dispute Resolution Society (ICDRS)

ICLS Dispute Resolution Society enables students to participate in national and international ADR competitions. The aim is to train them as accomplished negotiators, mediators and arbitrators. From these mechanisms they learn how to achieve peace through dispute resolution techniques. Each year, various teams from ICLS take part in different International competitions. The competitions include: Ad Hoc Negotiation Competition held by ADR ODR International and European Institute for Conflict Resolution, SK-Mishra Mediation Competition (India) and Willem C. Vis Moot. ICLS students have won several accolades for their performance.

Trip to Dubai with ADR/ODR International

ICLS Public Speaking Society (ICPSS)

International College for Legal Studies Public Speaking Society aims to cultivate the intellectual capabilities of its students by fostering the significance of effective communication rooted in the principles of freedom of speech. ICLS organises annual Debating competitions, both Parliamentary and Declamatory style.

The vision behind ICPSS is to build a community of young lawyers who prove to be useful members of our legal fraternity. This is why a Model United Nations fits well in our vision. The ICLSMUN conferences are always a tremendous success with a high volume of delegates participating. It helps the students develop invaluable skills in diplomacy, critical thinking, and collaborative problem-solving.

Trip to Mushkpuri Top, Galiyat KPK.

Library and Daycare

Library

ICLS offers state of the art library to its students and faculty. In addition to having a huge collection of the latest course books, reference materials and past papers, it also has a variety of Pakistani, Indian, American and British Law Reports, numerous Pakistani law journals as well as important statutes of Pakistan. These include the All England Law Reports, Halsbury's Laws of England, United States Supreme Court Reports, All India Reports, Pakistan Law Digest and many more. The library also provides many services including photocopying and printing facilities as well as private study spaces for students.

Day Care

ICLS offers an on-site day care facility for its faculty, administration as well as its students. This is an excellent initiative that ensures economic empowerment of women by providing them with an all inclusive work environment. Working parents are offered the essential flexibility they require at ICLS.

Common Room

The common room at ICLS offers a facility for students to help them relax in between classes. Students also have options to watch TV, play Chess, Carem and other board games such as Scrabble and Ludo. It is designed to make students feel at ease, get to know each other and gain a complete campus experience.

ICLS Mooting Society (ICMS)

ICLS Mooting Society provides a platform for students to participate in national and international moot court competitions, where they showcase their legal acumen and analytical abilities. Through rigorous training and guidance from experienced coaches, our students develop the confidence and expertise necessary to excel in the field of advocacy. These practical experiences of mooting foster a deep understanding of legal principles and strengthen their ability to present persuasive arguments in a courtroom setting, preparing them for successful careers in the legal profession.

As part of its annual activities, ICMS organises the esteemed "MA Jinnah Moot Court Competition", providing aspiring lawyers with a valuable and enlightening experience. In addition, ICMS organises the Annual National Women Moot Court Competition. These prestigious events serve as a platform for participants to hone their advocacy skills, deepen their legal knowledge, and showcase their talent in a competitive environment.

ICLS Welfare Society (ICWS)

The ICLS Welfare Society embraces the principle that every individual should have an equal opportunity to live a fulfilling life. Through engaging initiatives like Breast Cancer Awareness campaigns and charity events like Bake sale, ICWS provides meaningful support to those in need.

Going beyond donations to organisations, the society extends a helping hand directly to individuals using the proceeds collected from its activities. These altruistic endeavours showcase the spirit of compassion and community fostered within the ICWS, reflecting the society's dedication to making a positive impact through its extracurricular efforts.

ICLS Entertainment Society (ICLES)

ICLS Entertainment Society cultivates an engaging and entertaining environment for its student body by organising annual events. These highly anticipated occasions, such as concerts by singers like Omar Mukhtar, Hassan Roshan and Musically Married, bonfires, movie nights, and mesmerising Qawali nights by various qawals like Zain Zohaib and Akhter Ali, offer students opportunities for relaxation and enjoyment. Students can immerse themselves in captivating performances by talented artists and bands, delightful bonfire gatherings, and engaging movie screenings. These dynamic events contribute to the vibrant extracurricular culture at ICLS, allowing students to create cherished memories and foster a sense of camaraderie.

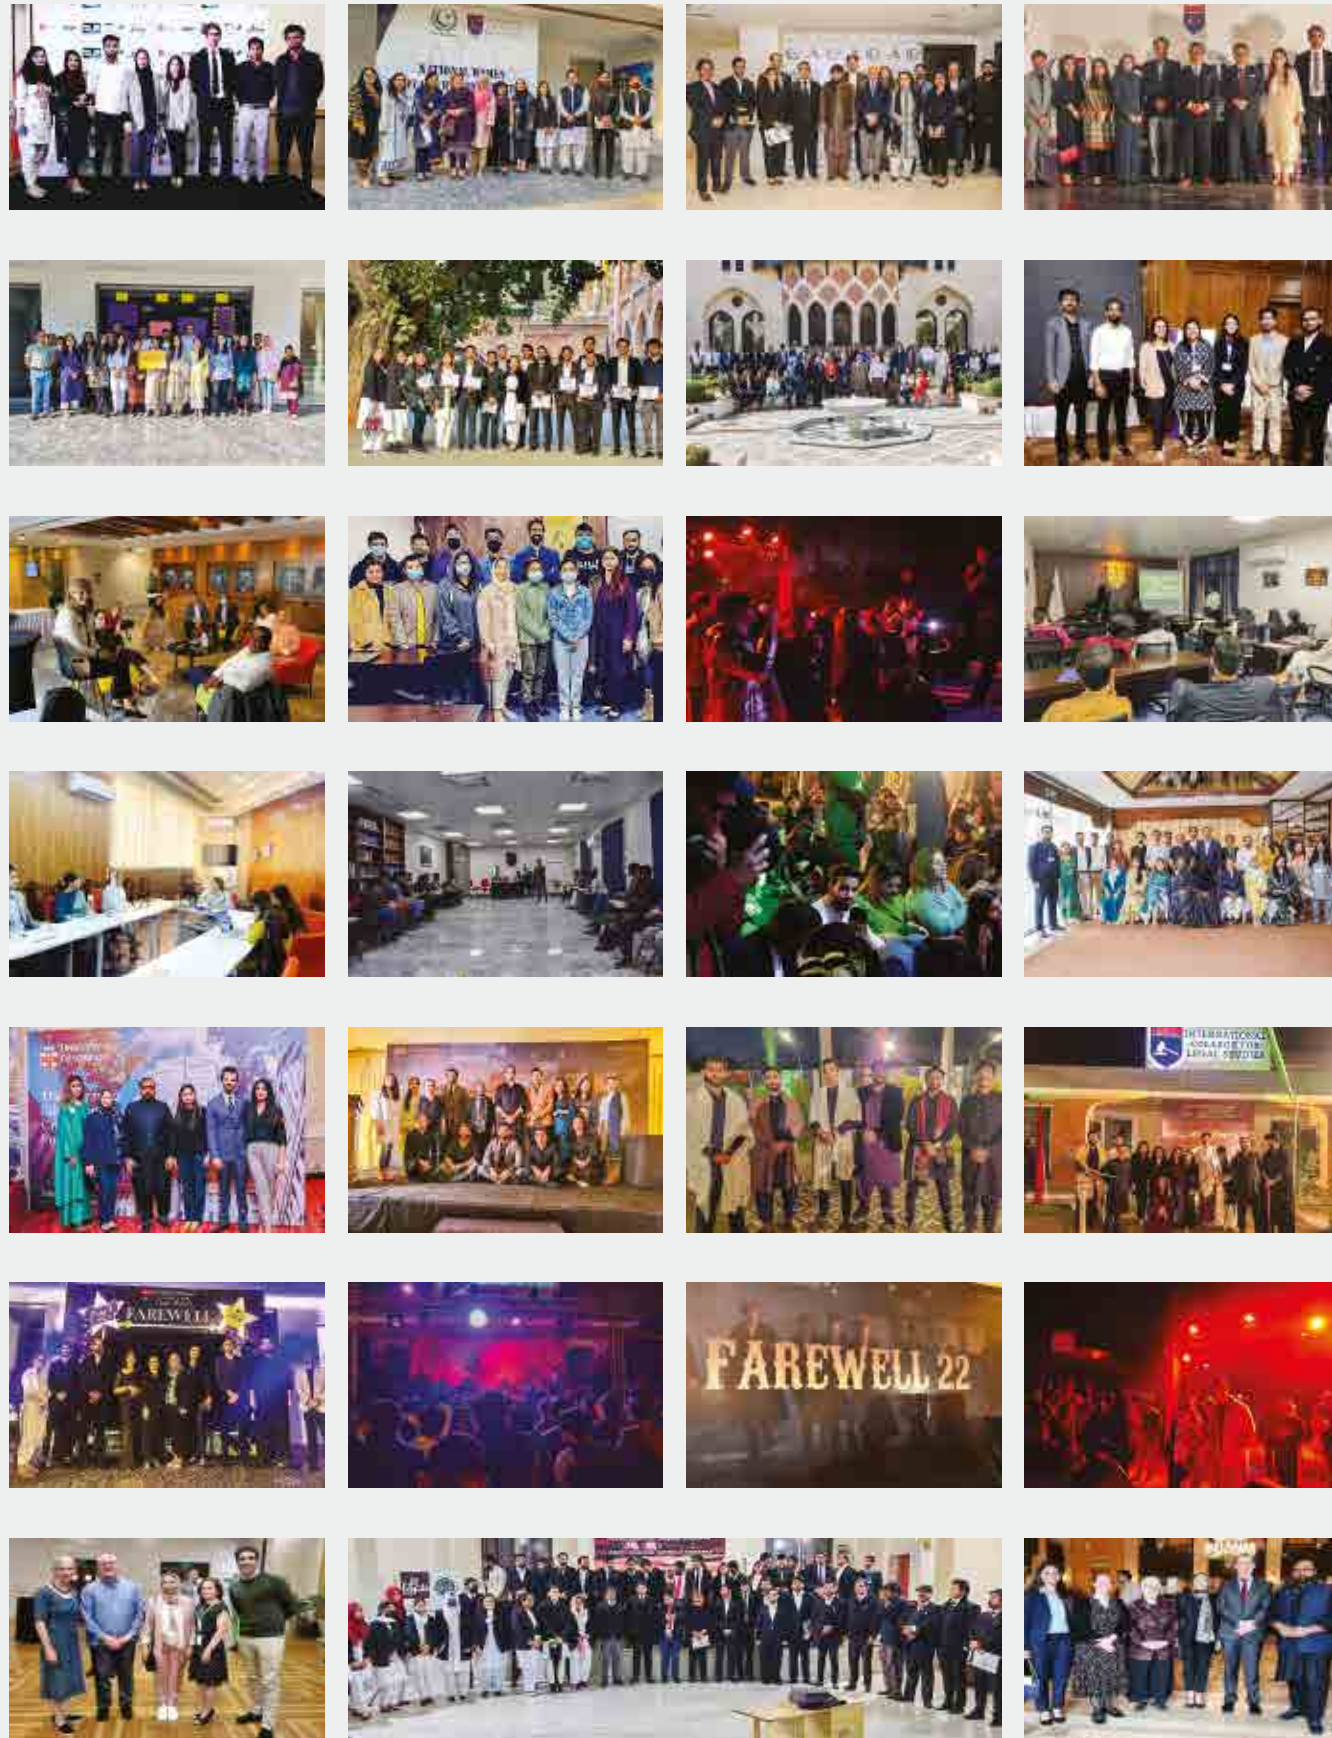

ICLS Sports and Adventure Society (ICSAS)

ICLS Sports and Adventure Society offers students a diverse range of sports opportunities, encompassing cricket, volleyball, basketball, badminton, and table tennis. ICLS also promotes participation in various inter-college sports tournaments, providing students with a platform to showcase their skills and competitive spirit. The college believes in the holistic development of its students, nurturing their physical fitness, teamwork, and sportsmanship qualities through these engaging sports activities.

The administration annually arranges one day trip and an overnight excursion, recognizing their value in providing a much-needed break from the demanding academic schedule. Students are encouraged to explore picturesque destinations, with the Northern areas being a popular choice.
