We are pleased to share that faculty members of ICLS have been officially accredited as a mediators by the Ministry of Law and Justice, Government of Pakistan (Notification S.R.O. (I)/2026). The Civil/Commercial Mediation Training is an intensive, skills-based programme designed to equip participants with the practical and theoretical foundations required to practice as accredited mediators. Delivered over six days and comprising a minimum of 40 hours of instruction, the training focuses primarily on experiential learning, with more than 70 percent of the time dedicated to tutor-observed role plays, simulations, and structured feedback. Participants are guided through the five stages of mediation, negotiation techniques, communication skills, psychology of conflict, and ethical standards, while also engaging with cross-cultural considerations and real-world case studies. The programme combines live instruction with supported e-learning resources and concludes with both a practical assessment and written coursework, ensuring that delegates demonstrate competence in both applied skills and conceptual understanding before qualifying for accreditation.

Sexual Offences Against Women and Children

Centre for Practical Legal Training (CPLT) held a workshop on "Sexual Offences Against Women and Children," led by Ms. Seemin Ahmed, Deputy Director Academics and Director CPLT.

The session explored key legal principles, procedural considerations, and practical challenges in cases involving offences against women and children. Students engaged in discussions and scenario-based exercises that helped them understand how these cases are handled in practice.

Student Corner - Board of Peace

Critical Failures of the Board of Peace

Democratic Deficit:

The BoP lacks substantive Palestinian leadership, effectively stripping Gazans of their right to self-determination and placing their future in the hands of foreign technocrats.

Autocratic Leadership:

By naming Donald Trump "Chairman for Life" with unilateral veto power and the right to appoint his own successor, the Board functions more like a private corporation than a diplomatic body.

Transactional Diplomacy:

The $1 billion "buy-in" fee for permanent membership creates a plutocratic system where geopolitical influence is sold to the highest bidder, sidelining less wealthy nations.

Institutional Erosion:

The BoP's explicit goal to bypass or replace the United Nations undermines the established international rules-based order in favor of a personal, "deal-based" framework.

Economic Pacification:

Critics argue the plan prioritizes real estate and luxury development over political sovereignty, attempting to swap Palestinian national aspirations for commercial investment.
